PUTTING ON THE DOG
BUT REALLY

LONDON (Reuters)—When night watchman Clarence Nightingale found a sparkling bracelet in a London park he thought it was worthless. His 15-year-old daughter wore it to school once or twice and sometimes it made a collar for the family dog. Tuesday Nightingale discovered the necklace was £20,000 worth of diamonds and emeralds. Police identified it as belonging to a wealthy London widow.

New Strife Spans
Africa-Continent

(Times News Services) The Continent of Africa, where nationalism and racial strife are on the boil, made news today from scattered points between the Cape of Good Hope and the Mediterranean.

These were the main developments:

ALGIERS — Right-wing extremists today stepped up their campaign to have President de Gaulle adopt a tougher policy with Algerian rebels and abandon his offer of self-determination to the insurgents.

The rising tension in this North African territory was reminiscent of the atmosphere on May 12, 1958, immediately preceding the right-wing revolt which brought de Gaulle back to power.

Newspapers today ignored censorship orders not to refer to a statement by mayors of the Algiers region who threatened to take up arms if necessary to keep Algeria French.

Meanwhile, in Paris, paratroop Gen. Jacques Massu issued a carefully-worded communiqué today pledging his loyalty to the chief of the French army in Algeria but not directly to President Charles de Gaulle.

An angry de Gaulle abruptly summoned the major-general to Paris Tuesday for a showdown on whether the paratroops hero was plotting an army-backed anti-de Gaulle uprising in Algiers.

It was Massu, the lean and hawk-faced head of army and civilian affairs in Algiers, that led the May 13, 1958, revolt which swept away the Fourth French Republic and brought de Gaulle to power.

Billy Graham
Brings Prayer

MONROVIA, Liberia—Evangelist Billy Graham rode into Africa Tuesday with a prayer that the continent now aflame with nationalist fire will become Christian.

The American evangelist arrived with a small group of helpers for his first campaign in Africa south of the Sahara.

Mac Meets
Opposition

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia—British Prime Minister Macmillan ran into heavy political fire today from Southern Rhodesia's main opposition party.

Leaders of the Dominion party called for Southern Rhodesia's secession from the Rhodesia-Nyasaland federation unless the security of the white settlers is assured. (See also page 5.)

They declared the only conclusion to be drawn from a speech made by Macmillan here Tuesday is that Britain is determined to establish African-controlled governments in Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

These two protectorates were joined with the self-governing colony of Southern Rhodesia seven years ago in the controversial federation.

ANEURIN BEVAN

Labor Party Deputy Worse

LONDON (AP) — Aneurin Bevan, deputy leader of Britain's opposition Labor party, clung weakly to life tonight after suffering a sudden setback in his recovery from a major abdominal operation.

The condition of the 62-year-old Welshman deteriorated sharply this afternoon. His wife and physicians sped to his darkened bedside in London's Royal Free Hospital.

A hospital bulletin earlier today said Bevan's condition "causes much anxiety." He underwent surgery Dec. 29.

'CLEAR WITCHES' NAMES' HISTORIAN URGES QUEEN

BOSTON (UPI)—A new attempt begins today to have Britain's Queen Elizabeth exonerate the 19 witches hanged at Salem, Mass., 268 years ago. Public hearing was scheduled on a petition of Salem historian John Beresford

Hatch asking congress to set the wheels in motion for a royal pardon. The petition was before the legislative constitutional law committee.

"With a swift stroke of her pen Queen Elizabeth could write an historic finis to a long and fictionalized story of Salem witches, erase the blot on the honor and reputation of our New England ancestors, and at the same stroke vindicate Salem and the commonwealth," Hatch said in a statement prepared for the hearing.

Hatch filed a companion bill asking that the legislature repeal a 1957 law in which it wiped out the convictions of the hanged witches. He argues that the matter was beyond the scope and power of the legislature.

Hatch charged that the courts which convicted the 19 and more than 1,000 other persons charged with witchcraft

in the years 1692 and 1693 operated under the aegis of the British crown.

Premier Insists Commitment Firm on Hydro

By PETE LOUDON

Evidence of a behind-the-scenes clash between Premier Bennett and the Peace River Power Development Company today appeared on the British Columbia power scene.

It came in a letter from the premier to the Times and to other metropolitan dailies, following a conference Tuesday in the premier's office.

It was highlighted by the premier's statement there can be no backing down by the Peace promoters, as far as the government is concerned.

This appeared to be in answer to PRPD president W. C. Mainwaring, who said Monday the Peace venture would collapse if the Columbia was developed simultaneously, unless the federal government approved power export to the hungry American industrial market.

Mr. Mainwaring's statement was in clear disagreement with an earlier pledge by Premier Bennett that he would countenance no export.

B.C. power must be developed for B.C. industry, the premier said.

No Delays on Columbia—Bennett

The premier's letter is the strongest and most recent indication that he does not see entirely eye to eye with the Wenner-Gren-B.C. Electric subsidiary, Peace River Power Development Company.

He wrote all metropolitan dailies stating flatly there should be no delay on the Columbia—that the government is placing absolutely no priority on either development.

His letter appeared to come as a result of recent statements by Mr. Mainwaring, although the premier told reporters: "I am not talking about other people's remarks; that's their point of view."

"I'm just discussing the government point of view."

He made an official request, however, that daily papers publish again the detailed Memorandum of Agreement between the government and the Peace promoters, which contains the commitment that the Peace must go ahead if the feasibility report is approved.

The report is now in the hand of the water controller. He must make known his decision of the project's feasibility by March 31. Several cabinet ministers have indicated in speeches, its acceptance is a foregone conclusion.

In the differences between the premier and the developing company, some observers see a high-stake poker game—with the premier holding all the aces.

The ace of hearts—the premier's expression of government policy that the Columbia and the Peace must go ahead together, with all possible speed, to supply B.C.'s anticipated power needs.

Agreement 'Definite, Binding'

The ace of spades—the federal no-export policy, and he repeatedly asserts, when the power is produced, there will be a demand for it.

The ace of clubs—the premier holds over the PRPD's collective heads a $500,000 performance bond, posted by the company when the agreement was signed—and could hold the company to a legal obligation.

The ace of diamonds—the riches—the $5,370,000 already invested in Peace engineering may put the firm in too deep to consider backing out now.

The premier apparently disagrees with Mr. Mainwaring in his suggestion the company must have firm contracts with the B.C. Power Commission and the B.C. Electric for power supply in order to raise investment dollars. (He needs $375,000,000 for first-stage production.) Or he must export power.

The premier agrees with the

Sporty Soviet Car Available Here Soon

BY VICTOR J. MACKIE

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Canada's automobile dealers may find themselves up against some new competition soon in the shape of a sleek and sporty Russian car.

Mr. Ambrose said the keys were mailed by a well-known Vancouver lawyer, but did not amplify this statement.

Missile Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon said today it is checking "unverified reports" that a Russian nose cone or missile has landed in the Pacific area west of Hawaii.

The automobile may make its appearance in Toronto and Vancouver showrooms this spring if present plans are carried out, it was learned Wednesday.

An initial shipment of about 2,000 of the Soviet-built cars is proposed. The car comes complete with transistor radio and will sell for about $1,700, it is reported.

Known as the "Moskvitch" it is a four-cylinder automobile.

Present plans call for it to be the first direct Soviet cargo movement up the St. Lawrence Seaway. It would go on sale first in the Toronto area and a Vancouver dealer is said to be interested in getting a trial shipment.

The Russian automobile has been given trial runs in Canada over a six-month period and found satisfactory.

A "Moskvitch" was brought into Canada six months ago from Finland by a Toronto dealer.

It is said to travel 30 miles to a gallon of gasoline and has "simple and efficient" moving parts.

The car is described as between the small European type car and the new American compact cars. It is a four-door sedan with a water-cooled engine mounted in the front. It has a 96-inch wheelbase, and what are described as "pleasing lines."

Hon. Paul Martin (L-Essen East) has placed an inquiry on the order paper of the Commons. He is seeking information about the deal and whether the proposed new

Russian-Canada trade agreement would cover an initial shipment of the Russian-made automobiles. Mr. Martin is

Railway Sparks Cause of Most Forest Fires

(Compiled From CP)

Sparks from railway brakes were blamed Tuesday for 66.4 per cent of all forest fires last year in the large Vancouver forest district which covers most of the British Columbia coast.

Chief district forester Ian Cameron said during the last four years sparks from train brakes were responsible for 67.1 per cent of all fires.

He said Pacific Great Eastern Railway was responsible for the bulk of these fires.

India Greets 'Figurehead' Red President

NEW DELHI (AP)—Soviet President Klementi Voroshilov and a delegation of Kremlin officials received an orderly welcome today from an estimated 150,000 Indians.

Prime Minister Nehru and Indian President Rajendra Prasad greeted Voroshilov warmly as the 79-year-old Russian chief of state stepped from his TU-104 jetliner to begin a 16-day goodwill tour.

Voroshilov is largely a figurehead in government dominated by Premier Khrushchev, but full honors were required both by protocol and India's warm feelings toward Moscow. The government spared no efforts to demonstrate that, despite the recent spectacular welcome given President Eisenhower, India is still not aligned with either of the two big power blocs.

RESPECT TAUGHT

In a welcoming address, Prasad said the exchange of visits by Indian and Soviet leaders has brought the two countries closer together and taught respect for each other's way of life.

Voroshilov, garlanded with yellow marigolds, replied that the last few years had shown that Indian-Soviet friendship is unbreakable. He said this friendship is founded on equality, mutual respect, non-interference in each other's affairs and a common desire for peace.

A 74-member delegation accompanied Voroshilov, including first deputy Premier Frol Kozlov. The group will tour Indian development projects to which Moscow has given or promised assistance and help lay the groundwork for Khrushchev's visit to India next month.

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Heavy storms probably are delaying Soviet long-range rocket tests in the Pacific due to take place between Jan. 15 and Feb. 15, reports received here disclosed today.

LONDON (UPI)—Britain today told Cypriot leaders that the budding Cyprus republic must apply formally for Commonwealth membership.

The two Cypriot leaders in turn asked that the British bill providing for independence be drafted in a form allowing for membership, the statement said.

Home also told them that the future republic's parliament

The statement did not say whether the British government had agreed to these two requests but the fact that they were made public indicated they would be granted.

McPhillips Enters
Bill on Pensions

(From Times News Service)

OTTAWA—A bill of A. DeB. McPhillips (PC-Victoria, B.C.), to remove restrictions on payment of old age pensions to Canadian citizens living abroad received first reading today in the Commons.

At present, Canadians 70 and over wishing to collect the farmers with snowed-in grain crops.

Paul Martin (Lib., Essex East) accused Prime Minister Diefenbaker of "dictatorship" and said he had improperly committed Parliament to expenditures already being made.

William Benidickson (Lib., Kenora-Rainy River) called it an affront to Parliament.

None of the Liberal critics, however, opposed the actual payments.

Mr. Diefenbaker dismissed the criticism as "a dialectical argument about an imaginary unfairness done to Parliament" and said nothing has been done to deny Parliament the fullest opportunity to deal with the expenditure.

Debate Delayed to Aid Grain Farmers

The dispute blew up suddenly as the Commons set aside the Throne Speech debate with government legislation to aid Prairie grain farmers hit by early snows last fall at the height of the harvest.

The government has preliminary resolutions on two measures: one to provide advance wheat board payments on un-threshed grain still in the fields, and another to permit government guarantees of short-term bank loans to grain producers.

After a day-long debate, the resolution on advance payments was approved without a recorded vote just before the House adjourned and a bill was introduced.

Both Liberal and CCF members indicated they have no serious quarrel with the proposals to provide cash advances and government guarantees on bank loans.

Speaker Roland Michener suggested members are getting too touchy too early in the session.

He made the remark as Labor Minister Starr and Paul Martin became embroiled in a dispute over Mr. Starr's allegation that Mr. Martin had manipulated government unemployment figures to make out that the numbers were greater than announced.

Mr. Martin protested this reflection on his character.

Lionel Chevrier (L-Montreal Laurier) demanded Mr. Starr withdraw. Mr. Starr refused.

Speaker Michener ended the exchange by saying the dictatorial defines manipulation as "handling with skill."

As the Commons laughed, Mr. Martin said he recognized the validity of the definition.

BOMB-SUICIDE SCARES MAKE PILOTS UNEASY

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Veteran airline pilots have admitted that reports of bomb scares have caused a growing feeling of uneasiness among them.

Clarence N. Sayen, president of the Air Line Pilots' Association, said Tuesday that bomb-scare scares were a "source of great concern".

"When one starts," he said, "others often follow."

In testimony before the Senate aviation subcommittee, Sayen said there was "no known foolproof" method of detecting a bomb carried aboard by a passenger bent on suicide.

But he suggested one method of "disillusioning some of these people"—eliminate the possibility of insurance profit by "simply not paying off" on the policies.

Former Cabinet Minister's Son Dies in Vancouver

VANCOUVER—Funeral service was to be held here today for John W. Smith, son of a former provincial finance minister.

Mr. Smith died Saturday at the age of 67. He was born at Nanaimo and educated at New Westminster and Ottawa.

He was predeceased by his parents, Ralph Smith, a former finance minister, and Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, a former member of the legislature.

He was regional administrator for the provincial welfare department with headquarters at Nelson for 15 years before retiring two years ago.

Integration Project

WINNIPEG (CP)—An experimental program of community development among Indians and Metis—people of Indian ancestry—will be started in Manitoba, the provincial government announced Tuesday.

The Throne Speech read at the opening of the legislature said the action is proposed as a result of a study of Indians and Metis, received from those working on the line, is to be avoided to protect the health of the Eskimos.

Mr. Hamilton said Tuesday that the Canada-U.S. agreement governing construction of the DEW line provides that contact with Eskimos, apart from those working on the line, is to be avoided to protect the health of the Eskimos.

Quarrel at the Top

IN RECENT STATEMENTS TO the press, President Mainwaring of the Peace River Power Development Company has indicated three important changes in the announced policy of his organization. It appears that the company inaugurated by Mr. Wenner-Gren is being driven from one position to another by force of circumstances. In the process, an open quarrel is developing between the company and the provincial Government.

Originally, Mr. Mainwaring had announced that the projected Peace River development could only be possible if the federal Government permitted export of large blocs of hydro power. This ran point blank into External Affairs Minister Howard Green's definite statement that the existing ban on power exports would not be changed. "The policy would not be modified to suit one group of promoters," said Mr. Green. "You can be sure of that."

The words appeared to put the Wenner-Gren plan out of business. But Mr. Mainwaring soon announced that the company had reviewed the situation. It would abandon the policy of exports. By setting the date for power delivery back two years, to 1968 instead of 1966, the rising British Columbia demand would be large enough to take the initial Peace River output of one million HP without resort to exports. The necessity for having power available by 1966, formerly emphasized, now seemed less urgent. That was change number two.

The third policy announcement arose from threats that Columbia River power might be made available earlier and more cheaply than Peace River power. If this occurred, said Mr. Mainwaring, the Peace River project would have to be halted. Without export markets there would not be sufficient outlets for many years for the power production of both rivers.

But Mr. Mainwaring removed this possibility to the academic realm by ridiculing suggestions that Columbia power could be made available before the Peace. It would take at least eleven years to deliver power from the Columbia he said, and then raised it to thirteen.

This was sharply challenged by Mr. Green. If all goes well with the Canada-United States negotiations, he said, work could start on the Columbia dam in 1960, with eventual delivery to the coast at a rate of four mills, compared with Mr. Mainwaring's estimate of six mills for Peace power. General McNaughton, who has been Canada's spokesman in Columbia negotiations from the first, said Columbia power could be delivered by 1966.

It is these latter considerations which will weigh heavily on the minds of the two major power customers in British Columbia—the B.C. Electric and the B.C. Power Commission. Mr. Mainwaring has expressed confidence that firm contracts with these two purchasers will be signed within the next couple of months, and such contracts, of course, will be necessary before the company can go to prospective lenders for capital to finance the venture.

But spokesmen for the prospective purchasers seemed to be much less confident. They spoke of their willingness to obtain power where they could get it most cheaply; they said that negotiations were "proceeding" but that information on many points was still being considered.

Mr. Bennett's latest remarks on the problem indicate his serious concern over Mr. Mainwaring's disclosure that progress on the Columbia would halt the Peace project. "The Peace River agreement is definite and binding," the Premier says, obviously in reference to Mr. Mainwaring. Mr. Bennett's political future is staked on the success of the Peace River, but suddenly a vast measure of doubt has been thrown on the whole program.

The background factors pose a gamble for the potential customers. Will they sign up for power at six mills when by waiting they may be able to obtain it for four mills? Or having turned down the Peace, will the Columbia be too long in getting on the market? Can they run the risk of being saddled with high-cost power for years to come when encouragement of the Columbia project might save them millions?

Another element enters the picture with Mr. Mainwaring's reminder that even when it has overcome problems of international negotiations and engineering, the Columbia project will still face the requirements of provincial approval. Provincial acts will have to be amended, surveys will have to be made, official approvals will have to be obtained, says the Peace River president, and this might take several years. It becomes obvious at once that Premier Bennett will have it in his power to hurry or delay Columbia approval, and "delays" might not be hard to discover.

Mr. Bennett has declared his conviction that both the Peace and the Columbia programs must prosper. But, committed by Government policy as he is to the great northern development program, could he, from either political or economic viewpoints, ring a go-ahead signal for the Columbia which might prove to be the death knell, at least for many years, for the Peace River scheme?

It is clear that British Columbia is today the scene of perhaps the greatest head-on clash of policy in its history—a clash with vast political and economic consequences affecting every resident of the province for the foreseeable future.

Rough Weather for a Dredge

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S SHIP-yards have urged the Federal Government to give them construction work to sustain the industry.

The Federal Government, in recent days, has awarded Burrard Drydock Limited a contract for a $3,200,000 dredge for use at the mouth of the Fraser River. Private dredging companies on the mainland say that if the shipbuilders asked for bread, the Government has given them very expensive cake, sliced thin.

Of the total to be spent on the dredge, $1,500,000 will go to Holland for machinery and equipment, because Holland produces such equipment more cheaply than Canada.

The dredging companies consider the project the height of improvidence because, they argue, dredges are already on hand in British Columbia to handle far more work than is available—far more, and at less expense, than the Government will do.

Private firms challenge the construction contract as an unnecessary and uneconomical imposition on the taxpayers—and unfair competition. They and other critics attack luxury accommodation in the dredge. Fifteen staterooms are included in the plans for men who, on the old dredge doing the job, mainly slept ashore.

Public Works Minister David Walker answers that the Government had "no alternative". It had to call for a new dredge to take the place of the one due for retirement. Staterooms are included, because the department hopes to save time by sleeping one shift aboard while another works. He states also that the Government had been "very careful to cut out any waste and extravagance."

Most people in British Columbia are anxious to see shipyards kept in business. Their payrolls are important. But the same British Columbians, as Canadian taxpayers, are not prepared to indulge in improvidence. They would prefer to see their money spent on projects which yield direct returns in use, do not lend themselves to uneconomical operation and do not saddle the public with continuing unnecessary expense.

The debate on the new dredge is far from closed.

Home Is the Hoodlum

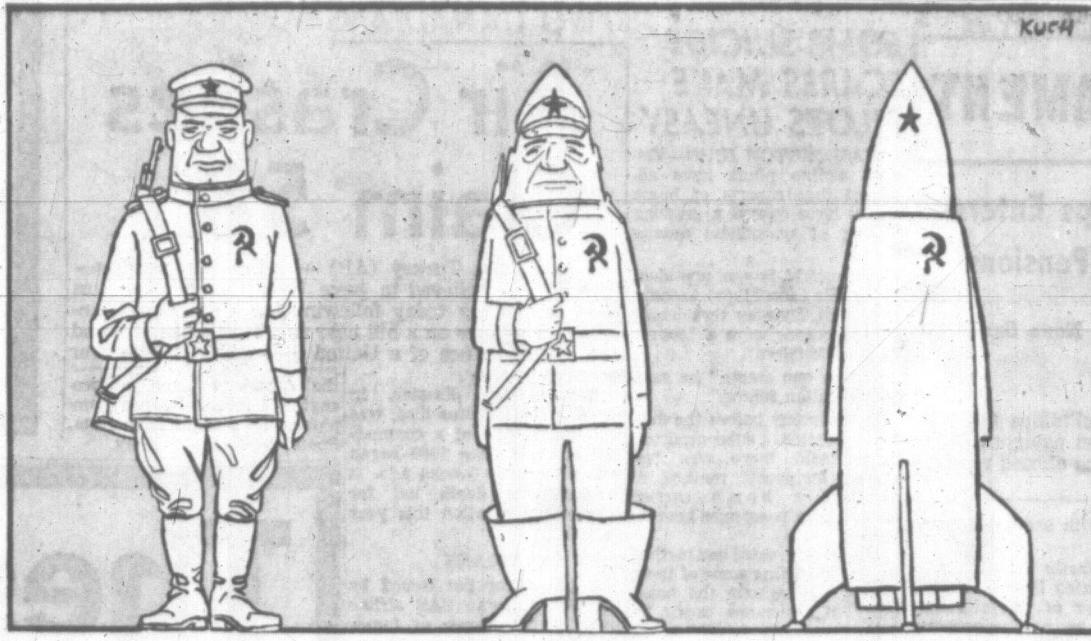

A PART FROM A FEELING OF satisfaction, the reaction of most law-abiding persons to the recent sentencing of 20 gangster leaders in the United States will be: why not more of them and why not long ago?

The hoodlums, whose known crimes range from extortion, through white slavery and racketeering to murder, have been jailed on the tepid charge of conspiring to obstruct justice by refusing to answer court questions. This has brought them sentences of from three to five years—a mild enough slap on the wrist. These were the men who gathered at Apalachian from all parts of the United States in 1957 to plan further operations of their criminal empire.

It will be recognized that it is very often difficult to lay charges against such persons with any hope of making them stick in court. Their underworld lives are led with such care that direct links with their crimes seldom can be proved.

But the public for far too long has watched these urban thugs reap an illicit harvest of millions of dollars a year. For many of them, crime has paid, and it is welcome news that the United States has been able to place some of the top criminals, even for a short time, where they belong.

Mr. Khrushchev's disarmament.

AS THROUGH A GLASS, DARKLY

Down to the Bottom of the Deep Blue Sea

EXPERTS diving into the waters off the Yugoslav coast report that they have found evidence of a lost Adriatic city. It seems the community was submerged 1,600 years ago by a tidal wave and didn't come up. That is the reason, perhaps, why it is still preserved, but it is not one likely to appeal to the former inhabitants of Illyria Epidauros. There are many tales of such submerged cities, one of the chief being the Intriguing story of Atlantis, drowned beneath the waves of the Atlantic but still recalled in various legendary references.

Tobin

We do not have to go back to ancient times to find submerged cities, however. The modern era provides some excellent examples of communities which have been inundated by waves of one kind or another and left to exist as best they can underneath the swirling tides of the twentieth century.

Buried Deep

Take Ottawa, for instance. Each year a fresh wave flows over it, burying the city deep in a translucent sea of politics. Adventurers who dare to descend to the murky depths come back with fantastic tales of life at the governmental level of strange creatures never seen on dry land, of weird scaly monsters, delicate ideal-filled growths, many-tentacled tax gatherers and a variety of absorbent sponges.

Beneath the weight of political sea

the city itself lies quiet and serene, its byways and buildings safe from the ragging political storms which create unceasing turmoil on the surface.

Or take such a city as Hollywood. Here wave after wave of hokum, blarney and bilge has deluged the area until the community itself cannot be clearly seen. It appears to the viewer through shimmering depths of fantasy. But the denizens are real enough, once the depths have been penetrated.

Here you will find the savage sharks, the wolf-fish, the darting schools of eager executives, the clinging vice-presidential molluscs and innumerable colorful baby starfish.

Super Fish

Rainbow-hued and luminescent creatures swim in a leisurely manner through the throngs, the centre of admiring stares and the recipients of choice tidbits. But in many a shadowed corner they turn upon each other, rending the beautiful fins and tails and feeding savagely on those who falter and float wounded at their mercy.

The scene is an entrancing one, and can provide an interesting hour or so for the observer, but then it is best left for more rewarding localities where the shifting rainbow hues and shafts of light do not obscure reality.

New York, of course, is a deep, deep pool. Even its towering coral pinnacles cannot reach the surface. And in its depths the venturesome diver may find almost every variety of life and death.

See in this corner of the pool where grey flannel fish pursue their hurried way, swimming ceaselessly up and down, and constantly emitting bubbles as though to say, "Look at me, look at me!"

And in another section playful fish of a score of species parade their charms and abilities, pretending to be different kinds of fish in order to amuse their fellows. Indeed, so good are the temporary disguises of some that it is difficult to tell just what they are, whether goldfish or herring, salmon or cod.

On the Job

In another part the business fish hold forth, trading their pebbles and bits of weed, ceaselessly exchanging pearls for shells, splinters for food, and constantly on the lookout for likely-looking suckers.

The great depths are almost opaque in some areas, filled with murky clouds and eddying wastes. But its denizens put on a brave show, and for a lost city the community shows little concern about being found.

Eventually, no doubt, the constant fall of sediment will cover these submerged places. The kindly waters will bring materials to hide the scars and ugliness and new coral mansions will rise on the foundations of the old.

Some day, enterprising divers will penetrate to the floor of the ocean, dig into the accumulated sands and find a relic here and there which they will bear to the surface as evidence of the incredible things they have seen below.

Na one, of course, will believe them, even when they show a fragment of order book, a tube of grease paint or perhaps a tarnished coin or two.

Such things as the divers describe could never exist at the bottom of the sea or anywhere else, folks will say.

And even today, peering into the depths, it is difficult to believe one's eyes, easier to think that the swirling waters are playing tricks with color, perspective and form.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Power From Uranium

In the increasingly competitive markets of the world, manufacturing costs and quality will determine our future as an exporting province. Ample and cheap electrical power is an absolute necessity to the economic well-being of British Columbia.

Too little has been explained or explored regarding the use of atomic power as a source of electricity. While Canada has the largest supply of discovered uranium in the world, Great Britain leads in peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Sir Christopher Hinton, chairman of Britain's Central Electricity Generating Board, has said that electricity from nuclear stations will decrease in cost by over 50 per cent from now until 1990. Can we afford to ignore these facts at a time when electricity from hydro sources is constantly increasing in cost?

Our industrial future will be strongly influenced and the welfare of all of our citizens will be affected by the outcome of the electrical power decisions which are now under discussion. A finding should be made on that basis and must not be dictated by men whose only interest in us is a quick financial one.

Sincere Thanks

There are some things in life which are quite impossible to express in words. I experienced this fact when I sat down to write this letter. How can one begin to express thanks to the many, many people who have showed such deep concern and kindness toward my family and me since, the sudden and tragic death of my husband last July. To personally thank every one as I would like to do would be an immense task.

However, there are a number of clubs, organizations and societies to which I would like at this time to give special thanks. They are the Lions Club of Langford, whose efforts made it possible to pay off the mortgage on my home; the Langford Fire Department and the ladies' auxiliary, who helped conduct a door-to-door canvass to solicit funds in order to make this possible; the fire departments of lower Vancouver Island, who sponsored a benefit dance to help raise funds for this endeavor, and the Kinsmen's Club of Victoria, who raised the balance so that this mortgage might now be paid off in full.

I would also like this opportunity to thank the Canadian Legion, St. Edward Branch, No. 91, and Rev. H. Behling for their help; the Dorcas Society of Belmont Lutheran Church, and all others who so thoughtfully remembered us at Christmas, and finally the Langford Fire Department, who saw to it that we were amply provided for at Christmas.

And last, but not least, I would again like to thank the many who directly or indirectly helped us through their prayers, words and deeds, and who contributed in any way toward easing our burden. To one and all, then, a grateful "Thank You," and may our Heavenly Father bless you as He has so graciously blessed us.

MRS. (ED.) ELSIE K. FISHER.

Ask Experts About Thetis

Last month the people of Victoria elected their mayor and aldermen; presumably they chose the best of the candidates presenting themselves for election, and there can be no doubt that these elected officials are public-spirited and capable persons ready to devote a large measure of their time and talents to the best interests of the people of Victoria.

Sometimes a special problem arises and then there is need to question who is to judge what is best for Victorians?

In matters of health we seek a doctor's advice; if a watch needs attention, it is a job for the watchmaker; we want an expert mechanic to adjust a car motor and a qualified dentist for dental work. The city council at the moment faces this special problem: Is it wise to sell a portion of Thetis Park for the paltry sum of $5,200 in order to raise money to improve another part of the park? Isn't that taking money out of a hip-pocket and putting it into a vest pocket?

Many people have expressed their views on this matter, but has city council asked the advice of any specialists?

This is a technical problem, not merely a business matter. Has council consulted any conservation specialist in the provincial parks branch; any of the ecologists or biologists of the Provincial Museum staff; any members of the biology department of UBC or of Victoria College? If not, why not? Of course without asking for it they have had letters of protest and advice from officers of the Natural History Society and the Thetis Park Nature Sanctuary Association as well as from other organizations anxious to save all of city.

Outlines Visible

The outlines of the Indian compromises are already visible, too. China will retain de facto possession of Northern Ladakh, with its crucial strategic road, while giving ground on the eastern border, in the area of the McMahon line.

The Chinese have lately increased their force in Tibet from 70,000 to 100,000 men. The Indians now really fear a serious attack on their border.

In this event, their gratitude will teach the lesson that there are even more ways of generating good will than there are ways of skimming a cat.

MOVING SIDEWALK

Easy Shopping by Electronics

NEW YORK (AP)—What will shopping be like in the electronic supermarket of the future?

A preview was offered at the food exposition and country fair in the New York Coliseum when the Daitch-Shopwell supermarket chain unveiled a scale model.

This said the designer, Prof. William N. Breger of Pratt Institute, is what the shopping housewife will experience:

"She'll drive her car into the parking lot and step onto a moving sidewalk that takes her into the store. She can deposit her dog at a pet bar, her children in a nursery.

An elevator takes her to the top of the circular building. There she receives a marker bearing a code number. Transported by a moving sidewalk, she is carried past displays of food.

At any moment she can step off the sidewalk and choose an item. After marking the item with her marker, she deposits it in a receiving station and moves on.

At several key areas, the shopper chooses among "menus of the day." She presses one button for the chosen dish and a second for the number of people she intends to serve. The various ingredients are automatically selected for her.

Upon completing her purchases, the shopper inserts her marker in an automated checkout station on the main floor. Every item she has picked out is spread before her. She pays her money into an automated cash receiver which returns change and a receipt list.

Back in her car, she drives to a parcel-pickup area. When she presents her receipted bill, she receives a completely wrapped bundle containing all of her items.

Breger said he expects these electronic supermarkets to be built in the 1960s.

Canadians Doing Well

LONDON—At random . . . Query: Where in the British Isles is there a French-language newspaper? Answer: On the island of Jersey. It is Les Chroniques de Jersey and has been going since 1814. But not going so strong now. It is being forced to fold owing to the falling off of French speaking in the Channel Islands.

Bumped into another of the many young Canadians currently in this country trying to make names for themselves in the entertainment world. He's Jerry Stovin of Regina. He came here six years ago after experience with the now defunct Totem Theatre in Vancouver and with CBC-TV in Toronto. He has had quite a bit of work but none of it very rewarding.

He has appeared at various arty theatres, such as the Arts and the Royal Court, without getting into the coveted West End. He was in the Bernard Braden-Barbara Kelly production of The Gimmick, a play which went around the provinces also without making the West End.

But now the breaks are coming the way of tall, red-headed Stovin. He's in the midst of six appearances with Emergency Ward 10, far and away Britain's most popular home-grown television series. And they like him so well in this, for him, valuable shop window that they've signed him for more.

Also clicking and quickly, is Toronto's 26-year-old former Ridley boy, Bill Mitchell. After being here only a matter of weeks he has had an audition with London's top theatrical agent, Al Parker. Or rather, it was only half an audition. Having got only half way through an excerpt from a Tennessee Williams play, Al Parker said, "I've heard enough," and signed him for seven years.

Although the critics have their doubts about Sir Carol Reed's film of Graham Greene's Our Man in Havana, with Noel Coward and Alec Guinness, one of them at least has gone overboard for the girl in the piece, Jo Morrow. He says: "She's a smasher and my New Year's toast shall be drunk to Morrow and to Morrow and to Morrow."

It has long been a habit with me to pick up the January and February copies of gardening magazines and papers to which we do not regularly subscribe, solely for the purpose of becoming acquainted with what is new. Often there is a pleasant surprise as well as good information. This year it came in the January issue of Populär Gardening when I came across the story of the rare fungus found on Vancouver Island, a story written by our provincial botanist in Victoria. Allowances and provisions should of course be made for the peculiarities of this part.

The All-America selections are worth noting, for they have been grown in trial grounds across this country and the United States for more than one year, so that their performance in any one area is pretty well assured.

While we like to think our particular climate is different to any other on the continent, satisfactory results here may be expected from across the story of the rare funguses found on Vancouver Island, a story written by our provincial botanist in Victoria. Dr. Adam Szczawinski.

OTTAWA (CP)—The Prairie provinces Tuesday renewed their fight to have the royal commission on transportation look into the costs and revenues of all commodity groups handled by the major railways—not just Western export grain.

The West wants the six-man commission to order the CPR and CNR to furnish cost data to show how each commodity group contributes to rail revenues.

The two railways have already presented a massive cost study of grain shipments—a study which shows that the railways lose $70,500,000 a year in handling export grain.

Prairie spokesman, J. J. Frawley of Alberta, Arthur Mauro of Manitoba and W. G. Doherty of Saskatchewan, contend that the railways are losing money on more than just grain/traffic.

FOR RHODESIA, NYASALAND

Macmillan Urges Full Federation

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (Reuters)—British Prime Minister Macmillan urged the people of Nyasaland and Northern Rhodesia to work for a full and independent federation of their two protectorates with Southern Rhodesia.

Until this is done with their "full consent," he said, Britain would continue to protect them.

But Macmillan did not mention any choice between complete federation or independence for the two protectorates outside a federation. Many critics of the seven-year-old federation have demanded that Nyasaland and Northern Rhodesia should be given such a choice.

The prime minister, who is on a 17,000-mile tour of Africa, spoke from the flower-decked stage of a crowded movie theatre. Most Africans booted the sidewalks outside because the theatre is usually reserved for whites.

Macmillan conferred with federation Prime Minister Sir Roy Welensky before making his speech.

Welensky had expressed concern over Macmillan's statement to a press conference in Lagos, Nigeria, last week. Macmillan was reported to have said the people of Nyasaland and Northern Rhodesia themselves would decide.

Bennett Claim 'Dismissed' Says Strachan

Peace-River president W. C. Mainwaring has "effectively dismissed" Premier Bennett's statement that there will be no power surplus in B.C. even if the Peace and the Columbia Rivers are developed simultaneously, Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said Tuesday.

Referring to press conference comments by Mr. Mainwaring Monday, Mr. Strachan said the president of the Peace development firm feared the northern development would collapse if the Columbia power was developed at the same time, unless there was approval for export of Peace power.

Mr. Strachan also noted Mr. Mainwaring's remark that the Peace could not economically proceed without firm power supply contracts with B.C. Electric and B.C. Power Commission.

SINGLE FACT

"This whole belated admission by the Peace promoters spells out one simple fact—Peace power cannot be forced on British Columbia without the deliberate and willing cooperation of the provincial government."

"By granting a water licence and forcing the B.C. Power Commission to sign contracts with the Peace River Development Company, they will actively assist the promoters to

CMHC Policy Fails Needs Board Claims

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Lower Mainland Regional Planning Board says in a brief to the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation that many potential home owners find National Housing Act qualifications too strict for their incomes.

The brief said the situation "puts dangerous strains on family life and adds to the civic problems of slums and illegal conversions."

It is estimated that one house in three now being built in one municipality will be illegally converted to a multiple-family dwelling. The municipality was not named.

The CMHC policies under the National Housing Act are not meeting important family needs, it said, and by solving some problems may be creating more. There was a definite need in view of the population increase, for a definite housing study on a metropolitan basis.

Road Extension Right-of-Way Asked by City

City public works committee on Tuesday recommended that a 100-foot right-of-way be reserved through the S. J. Willis Junior High School playing field for eventual extension of Blanshard.

The land is owned by the city and currently is the subject of prickly negotiations over a council demand that the school board pay for the property.

Alf. A. I. Curtis said the city also owns some land south of Market Street which is used in conjunction with the playing field and he suggested that the right-of-way could be put through there without complicating the present negotiations.

Second Vote On Schools In February

An $810,000 school building bylaw will go to ratepayers of Saanich School District 63 next month—at a date to be announced.

It awaits approval of the provincial government.

The original $799,000 bylaw was defeated in December.

The school board decided to add $11,000 to replace equipment in older schools to take advantage of the government's cost-sharing formula.

Jewel Thief Pulls Legal Coup

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — A Canadian-born international jewel thief returned Tuesday to the court which sentenced him to 18 years to life in prison and had the term reduced to 15 to 23 years.

The legal coup was pulled off by Gerard Graham Dennis, 39, who has spent the last 10½ years at Sing Sing and Auburn prisons for stealing valuables worth more than $500,000. He picked his victims from the social register and Hollywood set.

Under the new term, Dennis became eligible for parole immediately because of the time he has already spent behind bars but authorities gave no indication that he would be freed.

Should he get out, he would be liable for deportation to Canada to finish a prison term. He escaped from there in 1943 with two years still to serve.

Legal reading in the prison libraries had convinced Dennis that three convictions against him in Canada should not have counted against him when he was sentenced in New York state. He appealed.

Last Oct. 23 at Syracuse,

Judge Stephen W. Brennan upheld Dennis.

Brennan ordered Dennis returned to Westchester County for resentencing as a first of

Fantastic Safety Record Built by British Railway

B & I System
Runs 23,000
Units Daily

By HAL MALONE
Times Business Editor

I don't have the latest figures on the number of daily passenger trains operated in Canada, but I suspect all of our railways are pretty small rhubarbs beside a railway you have probably never heard of.

The system is called the British and Irish Railways. The man who heads it on this side of the Atlantic pond—G. F. Luther—was in Victoria recently.

With typical British enthusiasm, Mr. Luther revealed the British and Irish Railways is not, as its name suggests, a rail link between Belfast and London, themselves separated by the Irish sea.

MISNOMER

"The name is a sort of misnomer," said Mr. Luther. "British and Irish Railways is actually the British Transport Commission. Rather large operation, you know. Handles all land transportation—trains, omnibuses, and all that. Operates hotels and catering services as well."

What possible reason would a representative of the British and Irish Railways have for visiting Victoria?

"Oh, quite a good reason, actually. I'm here to visit some of your travel bureau people and to encourage Victorians to visit England in the near future."

"Quite a number of your people visited Britain and Ireland last year. I don't remember the exact figures. But I know B.C. was second only to Ontario in the number of tourists who used our travel facilities. In all we handled 25,000 Canadians last year."

With that Mr. Luther handed us a small book on the vast British & Irish Railways' operation and said, "I think you'll find some interesting statistics there."

The book was typically British in two ways—there was no accompanying art of lissome healthy females climbing aboard a B&I train; there were pages of detailed operating statistics.

Some of them would have made trainmen such as Donald Gordon, Norris Crump AND Mr. W. A. C. Bennett weep.

HUGE PAYROLL

For example, the B&I had in 1959 a payroll of $50,123 or about five times the entire population of Greater Victoria. Anybody with a staff that large has to have operating income sufficient to meet it. The B&I has both.

Last year the system ran 23,000 electric and diesel passenger trains daily. In addition it operated about 16,000 freight trains every 24 hours. The book noted that passenger traffic was up—at fares of just under three cents a mile it isn't surprising—and freight was down because of stiffer trucking competition.

REMINDER of Victoria's mild winters was flower popped in buttonhole of G. F. Luther, manager of the British and Irish Railways by John Martin of Victoria Automobile Club. (Photo by Jim Ryan.)

In all, the system grossed $16,639,000—about one-fifth of B.C.'s budget.

Of all the statistics one of the most interesting dealt with the line's traffic safety record. It isn't good. It isn't excellent. It's fantastic.

In 1956 the B & I didn't have one single fatality in 21,133,000 passenger miles. In the last five years the highest fatality toll covering similarly sizeable passenger mileage was two.

Here is a point I believe Canadian railways should stress in their promotions aimed at bolstering train travel.

Our railways may not have as enviable records, even proportionately. But by and large railways do have fewer fatalities than other forms of transportation, notably airlines. When an aircraft becomes ill it can't be parked while technicians stroll outside and adjust the carburetor.

It's no secret that after an air crash even in far off Algiers, the reservations telephones in local airline offices become suddenly still.

Besides, as Mr. Luther put it, train travel does afford a chance to view the terrain which is hardly possible at 14,000 feet. In his view the jet may get you there faster but the train—particularly the

OTTAWA PROBING RING OF CHINESE SMUGGLERS

OTTAWA (CP)—Immigration Minister Fairclough said today indications are "a number of persons are involved both in Canada and the Far East" in illegal entry of mainland Chinese into Canada.

Mrs. Fairclough, replying in the Commons to William Payne (PC, Coast-Capilano), said her department started an investigation last year which took some officials to Hong Kong. An exhaustive inquiry was underway.

Magna Award Irks U.S. Pipeline Firm

A Texas pipeline construction company today protested the Public Utilities Commission award to Magna Pipelines Ltd. of rights to build a routine pipeline construction practice.

The award was announced Jan. 13, after several hearings attended by the protesting firm, Collins Construction Company.

The firm sent a wire to the PUC from Port Lavaca, Texas.

Main difference in the submissions of Magna Pipelines and Island Transmission Company, the only other applicant, was the Magna proposal to lay a flexible submarine line. Collins Construction would have built the Island Transmission Co. line.

The PUC decision noted:

"One of the outstanding aspects of the Magna project was the physical problem of how to transmit gas under the sea across the Strait of Georgia and other channels and other arms."

The PUC also noted:

"The Texas firm also maintains the pipeline proposed to be laid by Magna, and approved by you, does not meet the mandatory standards of the Pipelines Act."

ALTERNATIVE

Collins Construction said the firm takes "strong exception" to the statement there are no obvious answers, indicating that as "the world's foremost authority on the engineering and construction of submarine pipelines" it could have provided alternative solution to the problems had it obtained the job.

The Texas firm also maintains the pipeline proposed to be laid by Magna, and approved by you, does not meet the mandatory standards of the Pipelines Act."

IKE ON LAST PRESIDENTIAL LAP

WASHINGTON (AP)—that the 69-year-old president is ticking off the days until his second term ends.

Despite all that, close friends say he has enjoyed his second term more than the first, which was marked by frustrations of various kinds.

He would like most of all to see his crusade for world peace bear real fruit in the next 12 months.

That is the way Eisenhower's aides sum up his outlook on this seventh anniversary of his taking over as president.

Eisenhower planned no formal observance of his inauguration anniversary, but it has been apparent for some time why he has liked the job better these last three years.

At the start of this term, friends report, Eisenhower made up his mind to two things:

1. He would not be labelled as a "lame duck" president in as he puts it. There is much more such travel ahead.

Popularity polls report the president is riding high these days. And likely nothing has done more to boost his popularity than his recent world travelling in behalf of "peace and friendship—in freedom."

On the latter point, Eisenhower has said time and again in pushing controversial programs that he has no partisan motive because he is ineligible for a third term.

World Peace Final Aim

WASHINGTON (AP)—that the 69-year-old president is ticking off the days until his second term ends.

Despite all that, close friends say he has enjoyed his second term more than the first, which was marked by frustrations of various kinds.

He would like most of all to see his crusade for world peace bear real fruit in the next 12 months.

That is the way Eisenhower's aides sum up his outlook on this seventh anniversary of his taking over as president.

Eisenhower planned no formal observance of his inauguration anniversary, but it has been apparent for some time

why he has liked the job better these last three years.

HENDERSON ELECTED

FORMER HOOP STAR NEW BOSS OF LIONS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ralph (Hunk) Henderson, 45, Tuesday night was elected president of the British-Columbia Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

He succeeds Harry Spring, who declined to stand for re-election following completion of his two-year term. Spring remains as a member of the club's executive.

Henderson has been a board-member since 1937. He is a graduate of the University of B.C., where he captained the university football team in 1937-38. Later he was an end with the WIFU Edmonton Eskimos.

He was also closely associated with Canadian senior basketball, playing on seven Canadian championship teams and later organizing and coaching Vancouver Cloverleafs.

GRRR!

There's no doubt that Bones McKinney is mad. Wake Forest basketball coach is really growling as he is restrained by guardian of law during verbal battle with referees in closing minutes of game with North Carolina at Raleigh, N.C. As might be guessed, Wake Forest was behind: North Carolina held on for a narrow victory. (NEA).

U.S. May Quit Cup Tennis If Rule Passes

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States probably will drop its Davis Cup team and the cup itself will be withdrawn if the controversial "authorized player" rule is passed by the International Lawn Tennis Federation, The Associated Press learned today.

The proposed rule, introduced by France, would create a class of players permitted to take part in an unlimited number of tournaments and receive expenses. They would remain amateurs and be eligible for Davis Cup play.

The catch is in the definition of an amateur. As far as the USLTA is concerned, these players would be professionals and Davis Cup rules state that only qualified amateurs can compete.

EUROPEAN SUPPORT

That means the U.S. would be forced to pull out of the competition. The cup probably would be withdrawn because the U.S. first put it up for competition.

It is reported that the rule has a better-than-fair chance of being passed. Australia is on the side of the U.S., but many European countries favor authorized players, figuring it would be the best way to eliminate under-the-table payments to amateurs.

Pete Tough Customer At Either End of Rink

Flyers Take on Cougars In 'Four-Pointer' Tonight

Big Pete Goegan of Edmonton Flyers is best known in Western Hockey League circles as a tough defenceman.

But he's also a good man to keep out of your own zone.

Goegan, a six-foot-one 195-pounder and former Detroit Red Wing, has fired five goals in his last three games. He now has a total of seven goals and nine assists, making him one of the top marksmen among WHL defencemen.

"His fifth goal came Tuesday night when the touring Flyers met league-leading Vancouver, but it was the only one Edmonton got as they lost 4-1 to the Canucks.

LOSSES HURT

Pete's scoring antics of late can't detract from the fact Flyers have lost their last two starts. And Pete is one who hates to lose at any time.

There's added sting to those losses with the knowledge that Flyers missed a chance to overhaul Victoria Cougars in third place. That should make Pete and his Flyer pals, who trail Cougars by three points, all the more robust when they move into Memorial Arena tonight.

It is, as they say in the trade, a four-pointer. An Edmonton victory will shove Flyers to within one point of the Cats; a loss will push them five points behind.

Game time tonight is 8:30.

ART'S BACK

Vancouver's win over the Flyers Tuesday before 4,400 fans was Canucks' "welcome home" gift to coach Art Chapman, who moved back to the beach after a recent illness.

Gordon Veprava, obtained from Calgary Stampeders during the weekend in a trade for Les Colwill, made his debut as a Canuck a good one as he scored one goal and picked up an assist.

Dave Duke, Ray Cyr and Sandy Hucul scored the other goals for Vancouver.

Duke was one of the most effective Canucks in the game, leading a heavy forechecking display and setting a fast-skating pace. His teammates followed suit through much of the game and Canucks loose from their own end much faster than the Flyers.

Bud Poile's Edmonton crew, with defenceman Gordon Strate and Goegan showing the way, threw its weight around considerably but tempers only flared once, that in the first period when Chuck Holmes of Flyers and Orland Kurtenbach from Canucks received majors for fighting.

It is reported that the rule would be nothing but authorized players under the system. "Who would want to be a plain amateur when he could be authorized to get all he could from the tournaments?" The amateur tournaments would be merely club events."

The Americans are banking on the fact that no country would risk having the Davis Cup competition dropped to force through the rule.

Joe Adcock followed with a drive over the centrefield fence. Adcock passed Aaron on the baseline and was only credited with a double. It went into the books as a 1-0 defeat for Haddix.

Harvey had pitched the first extra-inning perfect game in history and lost. Lew Burdette of Milwaukee had yielded 12 hits and won.

Harv's Heartbreak Rates Oddity Vote

NEW YORK (AP)—The year 1959 was the one in which:

The Yankees lost the American League pennant.

Harvey Haddix of Pittsburgh Pirates pitched a perfect game and lost.

Joe Gordon lost and then regained his job as manager of Cleveland Indians.

Pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm of Baltimore Orioles was chased from the mound by a swarm of gnats in Chicago, and Bill Veeck claimed he had them trained to attack opposing pitchers.

A spectator sneaked into a sports car in Sebring, Fla., and made several laps before being ousted by officials.

Which one was the outstanding oddity in the United States? The question was put to sportswriters and sportscasters in the annual Associated Press poll. The majority voted for the perfect losing game.

Forty-eight of 95 participants cast their ballots for Haddix.

The Yankees' demise was on 10 balls. The Gordon-Frank Lane fuss received nine votes.

Haddix retired 36 Milwaukee hitters in succession in his brilliant, but ill-fated effort May 26. Then in the last of the 13th, Felix Mantilla became the first batter to reach base against the southpaw when he was safe on third baseman Don Hoak's throwing error.

Ed Mathews sacrificed Mantilla to second. Hank Aaron was intentionally walked and Joe Adcock followed with a drive over the centrefield fence. Adcock passed Aaron on the baseline and was only credited with a double. It went into the books as a 1-0 defeat for Haddix.

Harvey had pitched the first extra-inning perfect game in history and lost. Lew Burdette of Milwaukee had yielded 12 hits and won.

IKE FIRED, BELL COACH AT BELLEVILLE

BELLEVILLE, Ont. (CP)—

Ike Hildebrand, playing coach of the world champion Belleville McFarlands hockey club, today was fired and replaced by former goaltender Gordie Bell.

Club officials said Hildebrand, in his third season as coach, was asked to resign a few days ago but refused.

Hildebrand, 32, coached McFarlands when they won the world title last year at Prague.

CURLER'S DREAM

Independents' Rally Didn't Last Too Long

Lack of a finishing kick cost Independents a junior men's basketball victory Tuesday.

Navy broke a 39-39 tie with a foul shot then added a field basket for insurance with seconds remaining to defeat Independents 42-39 in the second half of a Victoria Basketball

Commission doubleheader at Mount View High.

In the opening game, Victoria Juniors clicked on 14 of 24 free throws to provide the necessary edge in a 47-36 victory over Naval Vets. Vets counted all but two points on field baskets.

Trailing 48-24 at the half, Independents staged a stirring comeback by throwing in six straight field goals to jump ahead 34-29. It was a nip and tuck affair from there until the final whistle.

Independents' Bill Wilson topped the night's scorers with 14 points. Avis Murrant of the Juniors and Vets' Millie Calhoun each scored 10 points in the women's game.

Soviet Snipers Wait Too Long

TORONTO (CP)—Judging by the play of Moscow Selects, Russian hockey has improved in fundamentals but there's still plenty to be learned about finesse.

The Selects displayed fast skating, good stickhandling and a willingness to body-check Tuesday night but they couldn't finish off their plays and their defensive abilities seemed limited. Whithby Ducks had little trouble-beating the Selects 9-1 in the second game of the Russians' 10-game Canadian tour.

This is not the team which will represent Russia in next month's Winter Olympics although one or two members of the Selects may be chosen for the Olympic squad.

A defensive lapse in the first three minutes of the game cost the Selects a goal and they never recovered. The persistent checking of Whithby finally wore them down and by the end of the second the Dunlops were ahead 5-0. They outscored Moscow 4-1 in the final 20 minutes.

Butch Martin, Ioane to Whithby for the game by the Olympic bantam Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, led the scorers with three goals. Sandy Air and George Samolenko each scored twice with Gord Myles and Harry Sinden getting the other tallies.

Viktor Tsyplakov scored the Moscow goal, completing a neat passing play with linemates Boris Mayorov and Slava Starshinov early in the third.

A sellout crowd of 14,182 often cheered the Russians.

AMAZING ACCURACY

Several times the Russians carried the puck into the Whithby end but they tried to get too close to the goal before shooting, giving the Dunlops a chance to take them out of the play.

When they did get their shots away, the Russians showed amazing accuracy, seldom missing the net.

Vladimir Chinov, 20-year-old Russian netminder who weighs only 138 pounds and is five-feet-five, drew many cheers from the crowd as he often wandered far out of his net to cut down the angles or slide into onrushing Whithby players. He fell in front of most of the 31 shots Whithby fired at him.

COACHING SCHOOL ARRANGED

Victoria's Amateur Baseball Association is going all out to improve and standardize coaching in ranks ranging all the way from senior to little leagues.

Classes open to all coaches will be held every Wednesday evening for 10 weeks

VIKING VIEWS

Rivalry Growing In College Hoop

By ELLERY LITTLETON

Basketball rivalry is fast developing in Victoria College between the Vikings and the Viking B's. The B's, looking better every time out, feel they are ready to tackle the Vikings anytime, and coach Ken McCulloch is striving to arrange a game as soon as possible.

The B's who whitewashed Navy 54-30 Saturday night and made short work of Royal Roads 59-43 a week earlier have lost only one game this season to the Vikings in an early-season exhibition.

In their worst showing of the season, the Vikings, a team that has its sights set on the Canadian junior title, lost two weekend games.

Friday, the Vikings were clipped by Alberni's senior "B" squad 46-38 and the next night, without centre Darrell Lorimer and forward Robin Barnes, they were dumped 57-51 by Courtenay High School, last year's B.C. High School finalists.

The College C team, or Norsemen, chalked up a pair of victories against local competition, trouncing Mt. Douglas High 49-22 on Thursday, and wrestling their way to a 16-11 victory over Royal Oak High Monday. Also on Monday, the Vikettes dropped a close 24-21 decision to the Mount View girls.

The college water polo team splashed to an easy 10-2 victory over Navy, Bruce Wharburton tossed in five goals for the school.

Bowlers have reached the half-way mark in their league schedule, with the Beatniks in first place, followed by the Comets and Lucky 13's. Dave Fiddler, captain of the Beatniks, has a fine 220 average, tops in the league.

Friday—7:30 p.m., pre-midget boys, Galt vs. Brentwood; 8:30, juvenile boys, Sooke vs. Brentwood; 8:30, senior "C" men, Sooke vs. Brentwood, at Brentwood Community Hall.

MONTREAL (CP)—Gordie Howe of Detroit, Red Wings led comfortably in the balloting for most valuable player and Doug Harvey of Montreal Canadiens had an even wider margin as top defenceman in mid-season voting announced Tuesday by the National Hockey League.

Voting was close for the other two individual trophy awards.

Bill Hay of Chicago Black Hawks had only a three-point margin over Murray Oliver of Detroit for the rookie award—the Calder Memorial Trophy.

Don McKenney of Boston Bruins led Henri Richard of Montreal by eight points for the Lady Byng Memorial Trophy.

The Lady Byng award goes to the player adjudged to Bruins, 13.

Second Vote Held at End of Season

For the Norris Memorial Trophy which goes to the defenceman showing greatest all-round ability Harvey received 66 points. Closest among 10 others were Bill Gadsby, New York Rangers, 20; Marcel Pronovost, Detroit, 19; Tom Johnson, Montreal, 18; Allan Stanley, Toronto, 15.

Voting was done by a panel of hockey writers, broadcasters and telecasters in the six NHL cities. Points were computed on a 5-3-1 basis for first, second and third choices.

A second vote will be held at the end of the season and the combined point totals will determine the awards. With each goes a $1,000 award.

If Howe wins the Hart trophy, it would be for the fifth time. No other player has ever won it five times. Harvey has been winner of the Norris memorial trophy in four of the six seasons it has been in existence.

WILT'S JUST AS GOOD AT GATE AS ON FLOOR

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Owner Eddie Gottlieb of Philadelphia Warriors was right. When he signed rookie Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain for a salary reported in the vicinity of $30,000, he figured it would pay dividends because the seven-foot-one giant would be a big gate draw in the National Basketball Association.

Warriors defeated New York 114-93 Tuesday night as Chamberlain led all scorers with 30 points despite missing seven free throws in 10 attempts.

The 3,016 fans at Convention Hall boosted home attendance for the year to 159,464, setting a Warriors' mark with 10 home games remaining.

Chamberlain leads NBA scorers with 1,574 points, a 37-plus average, and should easily break Bob Pettit's single-season record of 2,015 set last year.

Batting Whirlwind Wrecks Trinidad

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (UPI)—England received a much-needed morale-booster Tuesday when whirlwind batting took them to a surprise win over Trinidad's six-wicket victory over Trinidad.

McKenney received 32 points in the voting for the Lady Byng award and Henri Richard 24.

Closest to the leaders were Andy Heberton, New York, 23; Alex Delvecchio, Detroit, 14; Johnny Wilson, Toronto, 13, and Allan Stanley, Toronto, and Andy Bathgate, New York, 10 each.

Needing 262 runs in 210 minutes, England went all out for runs.

From the start, the team went well ahead of the clock and cracked up 262 in 200 minutes, winning with 10 minutes to spare.

Final scores were: Trinidad 301 for 9 declared and 131 for 6 declared; England, 171 for 9 declared and 262 for 4.

Raman Subbar Row led the rush with 73. The fifth-wicket pair, Ted Dexter and Mike Smith, scoring at the rate of almost two runs a minute, added 106 in an unbeaten partnership, Dexter finishing with 69 not out and Smith with 47 not out.

Trinidad, 17 for no wicket overnight, sacrificed wickets while adding 114 runs in 110 minutes before declaring their second innings at 131 for 6 soon after lunch.

GAGLARDI LIKES NORTHERN RUN IDEA

'Few Kinks' in Ferry Plan

Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi Tuesday said he favored a new ferry service between northern Vancouver Island and the mainland near Powell River.

The project has been studied and "there are a few kinks" in the scheme. He felt it might be a future project for B.C. Toll Highways and Bridges Authority. But he could not put a time limit on the plan.

He added that his department is busy now working on the proposed highway extension from Kelsey Bay north to Port Hardy, on Vancouver Island.

The minister was commenting on a brief presented Monday by Reeve R. A. Weaver of Powell River.

MAN PRESUMED DEAD IN COURT DECISION

A Victoria logger missing since last Sept. 27 was presumed dead Tuesday by Chief Justice Lett of the B.C. Supreme Court in Vancouver on application of the missing man's mother.

The application was filed by Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Karlsson, 1008 Collinson Street.

Her son, Melnor Greenlaw McCulloch, part owner of a Loughborough Inlet logging company, left the inlet in a high-speed boat and has not been seen since. The inlet is 30 miles north of Campbell River.

VANCOUVER ISLAND BRIEFS

Three Graders 'Attack' Road

TOFINO—A Highways Department crew has made extensive improvements to the Tofino-Ucluelet road as a result of complaints from school bus operators that it was in a "deplorable" condition.

Gravel trucks, loaders and three graders were put to work on the road.

ALBERNI—An inquest will be held into the death of William Harrison, 40, of Great Central Lake, whose body was found in the lake, 20 miles northeast of here.

He was last seen alive when he left for work Sunday in his boat.

NANAIMO—The Nanaimo local of the National Council of Women has expressed support of a resolution of the Vancouver local that private hospitals be placed under control of the health department with regulations to bring increasingly high standards of care.

The resolution will be presented at the annual meeting of the provincial council in Victoria Feb. 17.

CHEMINAINUS—The Kinsmen Club's annual campaign for the B.C. Child Care and Polio Fund got a big boost over the weekend from a successful bottle drive.

Assisted by many volunteers, Kinsmen canvassed the area from Saltair to Crofton and collected 1,060 dozen empty beer bottles and close to 2,000 dozen soft drink bottles.

The empties were sorted and repacked for shipment and hauled away to buyers on 11 trucks.

The club will hold its annual mothers' march Saturday, Jan. 30.

DUNCAN—Government agent George Hallett is acting as police court magistrate while Magistrate A. C. Sutton recuperates in hospital from a recurring bronchial illness.

Stipendiary Magistrate Hallett relieved R. F. Barnes, who is on vacation.

DUNCAN—Following Boy Scouts were awarded St. John Ambulance Association junior first aid certificates after passing tests here:

DUNCAN ENGINEER TO ESTIMATE COST

Big Sidewalk Plan Studied

(From Duncan Bureau) DUNCAN—City council has asked city engineer R. E. Potter to estimate the cost of the 1960 sidewalk and street improvement program for the city.

First on the list of improvements suggested by the city engineer is a new 56-foot sidewalk on the north side of Cairnsmore Street on Hospital Hill.

Mr. Potter said Cairnsmore "is a very fine looking street" and noted that the new Queen Margaret School would be built in that area, lending the street to improvement. The engineer's suggestion is to build a sidewalk next to the road surface, with the inside boulevard to be cared for by the property owner.

COST AS MUCH

"It costs almost as much to build a curb as to build a sidewalk," Mr. Potter said, and estimated the Cairnsmore construction could cost $9,000.

Property owners would pay one-half the cost of the improvement. The city could undertake one block of construction this year. Improved drainage is planned with the water on Cairnsmore to be routed north on Islay and Holmes Streets.

TRANSFER

The second stage of a three-year plan for the improvement of Hospital Hill calls for a transfer of property from the nurses' residence on Jubilee Street. City engineer has a plan to straighten out an "S" curve, lower the grade at the Search by skindivers and dragging operations continued today in Georgia Strait, six miles southeast of Comox Airport, for a CF-100 interceptor which crashed in early-morning darkness Tuesday.

On the job today and Tuesday were Don Sorte and Al Trice, volunteer skindivers from Vancouver, who assisted diver and salvage expert John Humphries of Campbell River.

FOUR BOATS

Assisting with operations are the federal public works department snag boat Essington II, based on the Fraser River, RCMP patrol boat Mastet, and two RCAF crash boats.

Two men, FO Bryan Shaw, 24, and FO Gordon Davis, 22, both of Comox RCAF Station, are missing and believed dead.

Scene of the search was centred around the spot where an oil slick, yellow dye marker, and jet pilot's helmet were found. It is not known if the helmet belonged to one of the missing men, but it is of the type used by members of the 409 Squadron stationed at the Comox base.

NO WRECKAGE

Divers had found no wreckage of the aircraft Tuesday, but reported the bottom suitable for dragging operations.

The jet was returning with another CF-100 from a training flight, and did a planned "overshoot" of the runway. Seconds later the pilot of the other jet saw a flash of flame run along the surface of the sea.

Funeral Today For Noted Cougar Hunter

DUNCAN—Funeral services were held today at All Saints' Anglican Church, Westholme, for Capt. James Douglas Groves, 78, who died in hospital.

Born in England, he had lived at Westholme since 1910, and was a cougar hunter, of note.

He served in the First World War with the Derbyshire Yeomanry and Sherwood Foresters, was first president of the Great War Veterans' Association in Duncan, member of the Canadian Legion, and organizer of the Pacific Coast Rangers here.

Surviving are two sons, Thomas at Westholme, and Lieut.-Col. J. J. D. Groves, England, and grandchildren.

top of the hill, and fill the bottom by two feet. The road will be oiled and expenditure for 1960 is estimated at $3,500.

GRADED DOWN

Brae Street, serving two churches and a hall, was recommended for improvement. Brae Street's steep hill north of Trunk Road is to be graded down at the crown by three feet. Council considered building sidewalks on both sides.

Extension of the sidewalk improvement on Station Street from Craig to Jubilee would continue the block of sidewalk construction done on Duncan's main street in 1959. The plan calls for breaking out the old sidewalk, building a new walk one foot wider, and installing double-headed parking meters.

Council will propose the widening of Marchmont Road from 33 to 43 feet by obtaining five feet from property.

COST AS MUCH

"It costs almost as much to build a curb as to build a sidewalk," Mr. Potter said, and estimated the Cairnsmore construction could cost $9,000.

Property owners would pay one-half the cost of the improvement. The city could undertake one block of construction this year. Improved drainage is planned with the water on Cairnsmore to be routed north on Islay and Holmes Streets.

Five boats were wrecked and 16 suffered damages ranging from sprung planks to ruined motors when the big barge, being loaded by La Farge Cement Co., turned over at Western Forest Industries Dock, dumping a load of slag. Total damages to various boats are estimated at about $4,000. Damages to club floats totalled $475.

Ladysmith lawyer, E. F. N. Robinson, will handle the matter for the club.

NATO Sets Costs Of Canada's Arms

Sevigny Says Decrease Possible If Commitments Met Efficiently

OTTAWA (CP)—Associate defence minister Sevigny said Tuesday night the amount of the Canadian defence budget is set by NATO.

He said the defence budget of $1,700,000,000 was arrived at during the NATO ministerial meeting and that Canada agreed to this figure.

Mr. Sevigny, a member of the cabinet for only six months, made the statement in reply to questions at a televised press conference.

He said the Canadian defence budget was set at NATO "by agreement."

Asked whether any decrease could be expected in the 1960-61 defence budget in light of his statement that NATO fixed the amount, he said the defence department would try to achieve the same goal at lower cost.

$100,000,000

Mr. Sevigny was asked whether Canada could cut $100,000,000 from the defence budget if NATO had set its amount.

"We'd be free to try" if it were found possible without impairing defence efficiency in line with Canada's NATO commitments, the minister replied.

At another point, Mr. Sevigny said the defence department is trying to "devise every possible weapon" which would serve to protect Canadians.

STATEMENT CLASHED

This statement clashed with those of Prime Minister Dieffenbaker and Defence Minister Pearkes that Canada cannot afford to develop its own major weapons system.

Mr. Sevigny said he hopes Canada will have weapons to counteract any attack but he did not specify these weapons.

IN EVERY FIELD

The defence department was trying to be as modern as possible "in every field" within the means at its disposal. It was trying to prepare for all-out nuclear war as well as limited or conventional wars.

Mr. Sevigny also said he doesn't believe Canada will have a bigger defence budget unless there are "extraordinary circumstances."

'WIPE OUT NAZISM'

BONN (AP)—Parliament's lower house gave thunderous approval today to a declaration that Germany must cleanse itself of all traces of Nazism if it is to become a healthy member of democratic society.

Vice-President Carle Schmid told the Bundestag that as long as older citizens and teachers fail to instruct German youth about the evils of the Nazi era, "our people will not be healthy members of democratic society."

Schmid's brief speech was answered by a storm of applause.

'TEMPERAMENT OF AN ARTIST, VISION OF A POET'

Picture Immortalizes Indian Weather Prophet

By HUMPHREY DAVY

Jimmy Fraser, famous Songhees weather prophet who predicted last October that Victoria would enjoy a mild winter and so far has been right, has been painted by a well-known Canadian artist and anthropologist.

Tom Stock of Montreal, who is doing a series of portraits of B.C. Indians for Weekend Magazine (carried in the Times every Saturday), included the grey-haired 82-year-old Indian living on the Craigflower reserve, as among his "musics."

He has also painted Baptiste Paul of Saanich, otherwise known as Chief Thunderbird, and George Clutesi of Port Alberni, native fisherman and artist.

WONDERFUL GUY

"Jimmy is a wonderful guy," said Mr. Stock. "He's got the temperament of an artist and the vision of a poet. He comes from a world that is gone—a world when man was closer to nature and the basic things of life."

Jimmy, it will be recalled, is the Indian who predicts the weather by reading the signs of nature or by chatting with birds, animals or fishes—a lost art in this age of steel, concrete and glass.

Mr. Stock found Jimmy living in his one-room shack and suffering somewhat from meagre means.

His roof leaks and he has no electricity," he said. "And if it wasn't for some relief he gets now and again, he would be really tip against it."

"This is pretty humiliating for the son of a chief—a true blue blood," he added.

Mr. Stock, who has hobnobbed with Indians and Eskimos for many years, feels strongly for the natives of Canada.

"They are intelligent people who want to improve their way of life," he said. "They want to retain and acquire the best of their own cultures and white man's traditions."

"Remember we took everything away from the Indians," he added. "We took away his means of livelihood and gave him in return an inferiority complex."

Mr. Stock believes the only way the Indians can be integrated is by seeing that their children can obtain a higher education.

He advocated that industry will assist their families and provide scholarships to bright clans to take their place in so many thousands of dollars to maintain them.

Australian-born, Mr. Stock spent some time in the Arctic living with Eskimos who he said were "nature's gentlemen."

He warned that unless this was done, the Indians would lose hope and fall back on relief and it would cost Canada many thousands of dollars to maintain them.

Australian-born, Mr. Stock spent some time in the Arctic living with Eskimos who he said were "nature's gentlemen."

They will take their knowledge back to their bands and

MONTE ROBERTS

Well, here it is half-past YMCA week, and about time something was done about it in this space. (It is also YWCA week, but I am much too old to be interested in Young Women, so just let me say I am in favor of them and do not press me for details.)

As for the YMCA, I have every confidence in this institution, and I am convinced it is going to endure forever.

There will always be a Y, and here's Y:

The YMCA survived more than a decade of me, and if it survived that period of near-disaster, I do not see any possibility of it being destroyed by other forces.

Most of my connection with the Y revolved around its Howe Sound establishment, Camp Elphinstone, although I used to haunt the Vancouver plant from time to time during the winter months, as well.

The main reason I became exposed to Elphinstone was, my father was Camp Chaplain, and he thought it would be a good idea if I went to camp.

(The fact I didn't agree has no bearing on this narrative.)

So I went to camp, and I learned to sing "Don't wear a frown at Elphinstone" and ruined Tent Ten's chances for the volleyball championship (not to mention the baseball championship, the cleanest tent championship, and the Tent First Up and Everybody Washed championship).

As the summers went by, various patient Y leaders introduced me to swimming, taught me how to handle a canoe, and gave me—we don't say Hell in the Y, do we?—gave me grave lectures on getting back into camp by lights out.

Then came the time I was given the ultimate responsibility. I was entrusted with garbage detail, which involved rowing a boat far out into the tidal waters of Howe Sound and distributing upon the waters, whatever food had not been eaten. (Not much, I might add.)

I was also starboard bow paddle in the war canoe which came second three consecutive years (there were only two canoes in the race, but still).

Almost before I knew it, I was a great, big, old guy of 18 and in charge of boats and swimming. I would like to boast I never lost either a boat or a swimmer, but the Y regards this as nothing more than par for the course.

There are many more things I could tell you about the Y and me, and many MANY more things I could tell you about the Y and the more important people it has helped.

To be personal, though, all I can say is this:

I am in favor of the Y because I would have been much more of a shnook if it hadn't been for the Y's Men of the Y.

And I am sure there will always be a Y, for reasons outlined in paragraph five (above).

Today's cloudy, cool weather with occasional bursts of sunshine will continue through Thursday, weatherman Bill Mackie forecast today.

Temperatures will range from the low 30s to 40.

Only sad note in the weather picture involves the weatherman himself—he has a cold.

Blowing sparks from a waste burner set fire to the under-structure of a green chain at Moore-Whittington Co. Ltd., 2614 Bridge, sawmill division at 12:35 p.m. today.

Firemen halted the blaze before more than moderate structural damage was caused.

While major fire fighting equipment was still at the lumber mill, a second alarm to St. Ann's Academy sent apparatus racing back through the downtown section to find that a false alarm had been rung in.

Acquiring the 144 acres of this estate, he said, would overcome the lack of a large centrally located inland park and would be adequate for both athletes and passive recreation.

He advocated that land near the intersection of Burnside and Prospect Lake Road be used to replace the Cedar Hill golf course.

Under consideration, he said, is one-ticketing passenger service between Victoria and the Fraser Valley. If this is accomplished it will be the first time single-ticketing between the two areas has been done "since the last century".

Mr. Parrott said Coach Lines will take over from the BCE lease it has with the city of Vancouver for space at Larwill depot in Vancouver. VICL will take over similar BCE leases in New Westminster and other Fraser Valley points.

The sale is subject to approval of the Public Utilities Commission. It is scheduled to take effect March 1.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Can you tell me how the southern U.S. accent developed?

A.—Many southern areas were settled by the English in the 1600s and Elizabethan English spoken. The accent has since been modulated by isolation and the years.

Mr. Hutchison emphasized that Canada is more deeply affected by Japan's spectacular post-war recovery than most Canadians realize, and the effect was military, economic and political.

In a gigantic reorganization of its economic life, Japan had deliberately made itself dependent on the Western world for materials and markets.

Japan's recovery also helps to enrich the West by opening markets to Western producers like Canada.

And, by its foreign investments, it helps to carry the white man's burden, or as I prefer to call it, the white man's opportunity . . .

Mr. Hutchison warned that if Japan could not find an adequate livelihood in the West, and could not buy and sell in sufficient volume for its expanding needs, the country would be thrown back on its original economic base and would return to "continentalism" in some new form.

The Japanese people have tasted prosperity and will never be satisfied with anything else," he declared. They have an insatiable will and a grim determination to live.

He warned that the loss of Japan as a friend and ally must sooner or later drive the West into the fortress of western Europe and the Americas. And, in the attempt to hold them, the West would exhaust itself militarily and economically.

African Violet Fanciers Will Want New Star Type

By PENNY SAVER

Pride and joy of thousands of Victoria housewives are the African violets which they now grow in their kitchens and living rooms. Variety of these flowers seems to be endless. New one to enter this field is the "starflower" that has been developed locally. This is a particularly attractive specimen that is rapidly gaining popularity. Details are joined to create a star effect. New variety sells at $1.49 a plant.

If some of your violets are getting pot-bound it's high time to start splitting them up.

A good investment would be some of the special potting soil that sells at 49 cents a package. Manufactured by a local grower that specializes in African violets, soil has all the necessary ingredients for growing healthy plants. Indeed, there are 10 ingredients in this soil. Package contains enough to pot three to four plants, depending on size of the pot. Another good feature—soil keeps indefinitely!

Like people, plants need a healthy diet in order to flourish so, while you're shopping, it might be wise to pick up some of the special fertilizer that's selling at 15 cents a package.

Career girls and women who anticipate travelling in the near future will be more than interested in face creams I've seen this week. Ten individual containers of cream come in their own plastic travelling case. Sets sell at $1. Bath oil sets are also selling at the same price.

While we're thinking of travelling I must mention the comb and brush sets that are selling at 79 cents. Nylon brush and comb are packed in a zippered plastic case that would fit neatly into small-size suitcase.

Color range includes blue, pink, tortoise-shell and aqua.

For information on any of these items phone Penny at EV 2-3131.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Paid In Full!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a grown woman now, but the letter signed "NOT CHEAP" in your column reminded me of this true story. It happened to me when I was about 15 years old:

A boy once took me to a movie and bought me a hamburger. When he brought me home, he told me I owed him something.

I said, "Just a minute." Then I ran in the house, woke up my dad and got the money to pay the boy for the movie and hamburger. The boy took off and I never heard from him again. My family and I still laugh about it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a teenager and I have a problem that has me stumped. Just how close do you sit to a boy when you go out on a date with him? If you sit too close, the kids will say you are lovers. If you sit too far from him you are also teased.

JUST WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Sit close enough to keep a warm friendship and far enough away to keep a cool head.

WHY GROW OLD?

Want a Lovely Figure? Better Have Slim Waist

A slim waist is the keynote to your left ear as you bend to a lovely figure. So long as to the right, trying to touch a woman has a slim waistline she can carry quite a lot of weight in the hips and still have a youthful looking silhouette.

When first considering the problem of a middle-aged waistline, think of posture. Many women settle down into their waists. The simple procedure of straightening the spine, pulling the abdomen in and lifting the rib cage can make a difference in inches.

Josephine

SO, add this awareness to the exercises I am going to give you for waist slimming.

If fatty deposits have settled around this most important measurement, then you must stretch it off with special exercises. Also, remember that fat is not apt to accumulate over active muscles.

This week I am teaching you exercises which I have found, through my teaching experience, to be the most effective of all the hundreds I know.

For the waistline:

1. Stand tall with your feet separated. Raise your arms sideward, shoulder-height. As you bend to the left raise your right arm up by your right ear and hold it there while you try to touch the fingertips of your left hand to the floor. Raise your trunk and return arms to sideward, shoulder-height position. This time raise your left arm up

TODAY'S RECIPE

APPLE BROWN BETTY

Four cups small bread cubes, 1/2 cup melted butter, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 4 cups chopped tart apples.

Mix bread cubes (from two- or three-day-old bread), butter, cinnamon, salt and sugar. Arrange alternate layers of apples and bread cubes in greased baking dish. Bake in 375F. oven about one hour, or until apples are tender and top is golden brown. Serve warm with hard sauce or plain cream flavored with a dash of nutmeg. If desired, all or part whole wheat bread cubes may be used. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

There are two important things to remember about this exercise. First, keep the arm which is raised upward glued to the ear. Also, if you cannot touch the fingertips to the floor, keep the knees stiff—even if you cannot touch the floor with your fingertips. Go as far down toward the floor as you can. Later on you will be able to touch.

2. The old front bend is a splendid exercise if it is done correctly, but it seldom is. Forget the rapid bends, and the rigid arms. The important part of this exercise is the uplift. After bending over (with stiff knees) raise the arms sideward, shoulder-height, in a relaxed manner, but lift the rib cage and take time to feel the stretch through the midriff.

If you would like to have my tested waist slimming exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 6 to me in care of this paper.

Talented Housewife With Many Interests

By JULIA NICHOLSON

How does she do it? Where does she find the time? These are questions often asked by friends of Mrs. Vincent Martin as they watch her dashing from one activity to another.

"Oh," she laughs merrily, "it never bothers me. I just keep a schedule on my kitchen wall and try to adhere to it!"

KEPT ACTIVE

Mother of two children, Margaret Martin manages to keep house, supervise a play group three mornings a week and at the same time take major parts in local plays.

"My first concern is my home," she says. "My little ones, Bruce and Maureen are still pre-school age, and I like to be with them as much as possible — it's such fun to watch them grow up."

"Nature I take the two children to the play group, but if one of them is ill, another mother takes over for me at kindergarten and I stay home."

Playgroup at St. Michael's and All Angels Church out at Royal Oak, is conducted with a friend, Mrs. Lionel Speller.

'One Prosecutor' Policy Debated

Bar Association Asked for Opinion; O'Grady Says Need Not Vital, So Far

City Police Commission Tuesday asked the Victoria Bar Association for an expression of opinion on a proposal that a single prosecutor be appointed for Greater Victoria with control over police.

The proposal was contained in a brief to the commission by David M. W. Hummel, 28-year-old lawyer, who claimed a full-time prosecutor should train police in court aspects of their work, direct investigations, lay all charges, foster co-operation with defence counsel and have time to prepare thoroughly all cases.

City prosecutor T. P. O'Grady answered the brief at a two-hour meeting of police commissioners.

Mr. O'Grady agreed that eventually a single prosecutor will serve the Greater Victoria area for greater efficiency but it is not vitally needed now. He added that when that happens, there also will have to be an integrated police force for the area.

Acts Only as Counsel for Police

"I have no direct authority from the Crown. My authority derives from my status as counsel for the men—the police officer who represents the Crown."

Mr. O'Grady said reversing the traditional Canadian system was a serious matter.

He also said that he already sifts the evidence and lays all charges with certain exceptions like routine traffic cases in which the police officer makes the charge.

Mr. O'Grady said he was "reasonably satisfied that I have the time to devote adequate preparations to the trials." He was replying to a suggestion by Mr. Hummel that a full-time prosecutor is needed.

Stakes Are High In Big Gamble For TV Licence

By DON HANRIGHT
VANCOUVER (CP) — The keen contest for second-station television licences has emerged as one of the big financial gambles of Canadian broadcasting.

Private groups battling for the new TV stations are reported spending between $50,000 and $200,000 each in preparing their case for consideration first by the transport department and then the Board of Broadcast Governors.

Once they have appeared at the BBG's public hearings—as the five Vancouver applicants are doing this week—the applicants must await a federal cabinet decision.

The board is expected to announce its recommendations for Vancouver and Winnipeg this month. Then it holds hearings in Montreal, Toronto, Edmonton, Calgary, Ottawa and Halifax.

The transport department already has announced the five applicants for the Montreal licence and nine groups seeking the Toronto licence, which veteran broadcasters describe as the biggest plums. Fewer applicants are expected in the other cities, but in all cases there can be only one winner.

BIGGEST PLUMS

Ernest L. Bushnell, who resigned last month as CBC vice-president and is a consultant to one applicant in each of Winnipeg and Vancouver, told the BBC Tuesday the current contest is "a chariot race."

The stakes are high. Most of the three Winnipeg and four Vancouver applicants heard so far have estimated gross revenue—mostly from advertising—of between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 in the first three years of TV operation.

Offsetting these are high operating costs. Few applicants forecast profits in their first year on the air.

Pacific Television Company Limited told the board Tuesday, it expected a $28,599 loss in the first year after revenue of $1,436,589 and costs of $1,465,188. But with revenue climbing steadily in the next two years, it anticipated con-

Charter—High Seas Fishing

The Fisheries Research Board of Canada will require the services of chartermen for the high seas during the period May-August of this year.

One vessel will fish with gill nets (supplied by the Board) for the commercial distribution of salmon. The second vessel will carry out purse seining, in order to obtain live salmon for tagging.

The vessels will need to be equipped for accurate navigation on the high seas, and in addition to the crew survey of water resources to be given accommodation for two to three scientific observers.

The Board will also require for rent a Salmon Seine, which will be modified for the indicated purpose if possible.

The Board is anxious to make the best possible selection of vessels and crews and invites all interested parties to contact.

For further information please write to:

The Director,
Fisheries Research Board of Canada

Nanaimo, B.C.

Enquiries should be made not later than February 15.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—The Hot Stove Baseball League met at the Hafwyn the other morning, and while pitcher Whitey Ford and catcher Yogi Berra were gesticulating, Toots Shor barked at Ford: "Take your hand off my arm!" Ford replied: "You have no arm. You're all body." Then Yogi challenged Toots to name five ways a player can get on first base without making a hit. Toots named four (base-on-balls, hit-batsman, interference, and dropped-third strike) — and then stopped to deliberate. "Becoming a pinch base-runner," exclaimed Yogi happily, while Toots cried: "Foul!" One they didn't ask was: How can a pitcher give six hits without a man getting on base? A. SOLUTION FRIDAY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the best answers will receive handsome prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Elizabeth Ferguson, aged 9, of Peterborough, Ont., for her question:

Who Was Florence Nightingale?

There have always been kind women who tended the sick. There have always been mothers who looked at skinned knees and noses and kissed them better. But the first real nurse was Florence Nightingale. She is accepted as the founder of modern nursing. Miss. Nightingale is one of Andy's favorite people.

She was born in Florence, Italy, on May 12, 1820. Her parents were English and they named the baby girl for the city of her birth. The family was "rich and elegant" and planned for this lovely daughter to enjoy a life of social glamour. They did not guess that their little girl had a heart more beautiful than her beautiful face.

Even at six, young Florence wanted more than a life of luxury. She wanted to help those less lucky. At 17, she was not ashamed to say that God had chosen her to do a special job of work for Him. She wanted to be a nurse and more. She wanted to set forth the duties of a nurse, to train other women in this noble work and tell the whole world about it.

Imagine a world with no nurses, none of our ladies in white to tend the sick. This was the world of young Florence Nightingale. The nursing of that day was done by dirty, untrained women who attended births, looked after children and watched over the aged. Polite society looked down on this so-called nursing.

When Florence told her elegant family that she wanted to be a nurse, they were horrified.

But rather than give up her work, Florence gave up family, friends and finally the man she loved. At 31, she was given a chance to reorganize small London hospital. Her ideas of proper nursing were at last put to work and the special job of work for the British government.

Even at six, young Florence wanted more than a life of luxury. She wanted to help those less lucky. At 17, she was not ashamed to say that God had chosen her to do a special job of work for Him.

MONTE ROBERTS

Well, here it is half-past YMCA week, and about time something was done about it in this space.

(It is also YWCA week, but I am much too old to be interested in Young Women, so just let me say I am in favor of them and do not press me for details.)

As for the YMCA, I have every confidence in this institution, and I am convinced it is going to endure forever.

There will always be a Y, and here's Y:

The YMCA survived more than a decade of me; and if it survived that period of near-disaster, I do not see any possibility of it being destroyed by other forces.

Most of my connection with the Y revolved around its Howe Sound establishment, Camp Elphinstone, although I used to haunt the Vancouver plant from time to time during the winter months, as well.

The main reason I became exposed to Elphinstone was my father was Camp Chaplain, and he thought it would be a good idea if I went to camp.

(The fact I didn't agree has no bearing on this narrative.)

So I went to camp, and I learned to sing "Don't wear a frown at Elphinstone," and ruined Tent Ten's chances for the volleyball championship (not to mention the baseball championship, the cleanest tent championship, and the Tent-First-Up-and-Everybody-Washed championship).

As the summers went by, various patient Y leaders introduced me to swimming, taught me how to handle a canoe, and gave me—don't say Hell in the Y, do we?—gave me grave lectures on getting back into camp by lights out.

Then came the time I was given the ultimate responsibility. I was entrusted with garbage detail, which involved rowing a boat far out into the tidal waters of Howe Sound and distributing upon the waters whatever food had not been eaten. (Not much, I might add.)

I was also starboard, how paddle in the war canoe which came second three consecutive years (there were only two canoes in the race, but still).

Almost before I knew it, I was a great, big, old guy of 18 and in charge of boats and swimming. I would like to boast I never lost either a boat or a swimmer, but the Y regards this as nothing more than par for the course.

There are many more things I could tell you about the Y and me, and many MANY more things I could tell you about the Y and the more important people it has helped.

To be personal, though, all I can say is this:

I am in favor of the Y because I would have been much more of a shnook if it hadn't been for the Y's Men of the Y.

And I am sure there will always be a Y, for reasons outlined in paragraph five (above).

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Today's cloudy, cool weather with occasional bursts of sunshine will continue through Thursday, weatherman Bill Mackie forecast today.

Victoria is on the northern edge of the disturbance which brought snow to Portland Tuesday, and there's no snow in sight at the moment.

Temperatures will range from the low 30s to 40.

Only sad note in the weather picture involves the weatherman himself—he has a cold.

Douglas Crabbe, 649 Ardersier, was put on $250 bond for six months' good behavior when charged in Saanich police court Tuesday with making threats towards his wife Rosalie.

Police used a stretcher and rope to raise 71-year-old Gordon K. Beeston from the bottom of a 10-foot excavation into which he fell on Government near Cormorant at 1:10 a.m. today.

Beeston was taken to Jubilee Hospital, where he was treated for head and leg abrasions and released.

The victim, who lives at October Mansions, apparently stumbled into a hole exposed during work on the current underground wiring program.

'TEMPERAMENT OF AN ARTIST, VISION OF A POET'

Picture Immortalizes Indian Weather Prophet

By HUMPHRY DAVY.

Jimmy Fraser, famous Songhees weather prophet who predicted last October that Victoria would enjoy a mild winter and so far has been right, has been painted by a well-known Canadian artist and anthropologist.

Tom Stock of Montreal, who is doing a series of portraits of B.C. Indians for Weekend Magazine (carried in the Times every Saturday), included the grey-haired 82-year-old Indian living on the Craigflower reserve, as among his "musts."

He has also painted Baptiste Paul of Saanich, otherwise known as Chief Thunderbird, and George Clutesi of Port Alberni, native fisherman and artist.

WONDERFUL GUY

"Jimmy is a wonderful guy," said Mr. Stock. "He's got the temperament of an artist and the vision of a poet. He comes from a world that is gone—a world when man was closer to nature and the basic things of life."

Jimmy, it will be recalled, is the Indian who predicts the weather by reading the signs of nature or by chatting with birds, animals or fishes—a lost art in this age of steel, concrete and glass.

Mr. Stock found Jimmy living in his one-room shack and suffering somewhat from meagre means.

His roof leaks and he has no electricity," he said. "And if it wasn't for some relief he gets now and again, he would be really up against it."

This is pretty humiliating for the son of a chief—a true blue-blood," he added.

Mr. Stock, who has hobnobbed with Indians and Eskimos for many years, feels strongly for the natives of Canada.

"They are intelligent people who want to improve their way of life," he said. "They

Three Youths Face Bundle Of Charges

Ten charges of burglary, theft, church and school vandalism and possession of stolen goods faced a trio of Victoria boys aged 14, 15 and 16 in juvenile court today.

Offences date from last November, coming up to date with the desecration last Friday of First Church of Christ Scientist.

The boys were arrested and held by Duncan RCMP Sunday night after a stolen car was wrecked on Trans-Canada Highway near Duncan.

Among the charges is one of theft of this car from Speedwell Motors at the weekend.

Mr. Parr said council should make immediate use of the half-mill a year for the acquisition of park lands.

Council requested the parks report after ratepayers in a December referendum approved the spending of one half-mill a year for the acquisition of park lands.

Mr. Parr said council should make immediate use of the half-mill (about $30,000) to buy park land in danger of being subdivided.

Reviewing the recreational facilities of the municipalities, Mr. Parr said Saanich was in need of all types of parks and had no land reserves for this purpose to take care of future growth.

These should vary between 5 and 20 acres in size.

5. Priority be also given to the provision of beach and waterfront parks.

6. Negotiations be re-opened between the municipality and the owners of the McRae Estate.

7. That the intermunicipal committee study the question of acquisition of "regional" parks and the respective responsibilities acquiring land for the use of the Greater Victoria area within individual municipalities.

4. That priority be given to establishing sports fields at neighboring and district levels.

These should vary between 5 and 20 acres in size.

Mr. Parr said the McRae Estate is threatened daily by immediate development.

There was at present 2.7 acres of developed open space per 1,000 population, he said.

There should be instead, he added, 10 acres per 1,000.

In Name Only

On the question of large regional parks, he recommended that council representatives meet the city to study the status of Thetis Lake Park and Elk and Beaver Park.

Both these properties are parks in name only and can be sold at any time.

The future of these two parks are as vital to Victoria as Saanich, he said.

"Greater Victoria's reputation as a place in which to live and to visit was due to its unique natural surroundings and proximity to the country side," he said.

But he pointed out, urbanization is in the process of destroying this and the conservation of both Thetis Lake Park and Beaver-Elk Lakes Park.

On waterfront parks, he said,

"a most urgent need is to preserve the fast-vanishing coastline and to provide access to the water. With the exception of a few road allowances there is no public access to the seven miles of shoreline between Cadboro Bay and Mt. Douglas.

He said property should be acquired at Sayward beach,

Cordova Bay, Margaret Bay, Gordon Head, Bedford-Phyllis, Smuggler's Cove and Cadboro Bay.

An arboraeum and nature reserve should also be supported and assisted by council, he said.

COMMONS COMMITTEE WILL STUDY DEFENCE

OTTAWA (CP) — Establishment of a select Commons committee to study defence policy was announced today by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

He said he will move the formation of such a committee to examine defence expenditures.

Mr. Diefenbaker made clear that the civil authority in defence matters must be supreme and that no committee can be dominated by the military.

AFTER BENNETT STATEMENT

Peace Power Clash Hinted

By PETE LOUDON

Evidence of a behind-the-scenes clash between Premier Bennett and the Peace River Power Development Company today appeared on the British Columbia power scene.

It came in a letter from the premier to the Times and to other metropolitan dailies, following a conference Tuesday in the premier's office.

It was highlighted by the premier's statement there can be no backing down by the Peace promoters, as far as the government is concerned.

This appeared to be in answer to PRPD president W. C. Mainwaring, who said Monday the Peace venture would collapse if the Columbia was developed simultaneously, unless the federal government approved power export to the hungry American industrial market.

No Delays on Columbia—Bennett

The premier's letter is the strongest and most recent indication that he does not see entirely eye to eye with the Peace promoters, which contains the commitment that the Peace must go ahead if the feasibility report is approved.

(The report is now in the hand of the water comptroller. He must make known his decision of the project's feasibility by March 31. Several cabinet ministers have indicated in speeches, its acceptance is a foregone conclusion.)

In the differences between the premier and the developing company, some observers see a high-stake poker game—with the premier holding all the aces.

FREIGHTER AGROUND

The 7,254-ton Dutch coastal freighter Lieve Vroewerk was reported to have run aground. Ships were standing by.

Police and farmers hunted through heavy snow for 14-year-old Elizabeth Lawson in Aberdeenshire, Scotland today.

She vanished in a blizzard Tuesday on her way home from school.

Reports of wind speeds up to 75 miles an hour were broadcast.

Large areas of northeast Scotland were almost completely cut off after a night of heavy snow and high winds.

The storms gave many areas of Scotland and northern England their worst night of the winter, with roads and rail lines blocked, cars abandoned and telephone wires cut.

Several other ships were reported in trouble in the North Sea—including one which ran aground—while a widespread hunt was launched in Scotland for a girl who vanished in a blizzard.

The 199-ton Dutch coastal vessel Bermuda, under tow after taking water in her engine room, capsized near the Hook of Holland. A tug looked in vain for survivors, the aces.

CLEAR WITCHES' NAMES' HISTORIAN URGES QUEEN

BOSTON (UPI) — A new attempt begins today to have Britain's Queen Elizabeth exonerate the 19 witches hanged at Salem, Mass., 268 years ago.

Public hearing was scheduled on a petition of Salem historian John Beresford Hatch asking congress to set the wheels in motion for a royal pardon. The petition was before the legislative constitutional law committee.

Hatch filed a companion bill

courts which convicted the 19 asking that the legislature reand more than 1,000 other persons charged with witchcraft in 1692 and 1693 operated under the aegis of the British crown.

Hatch argued that the matter was beyond the scope and power of the legislature.

OTTAWA — Canada's auto-

The automobile has been given trial runs in Can-

It is said to travel 30 miles to a gallon of gasoline and has

The car is described as be-

U.S. Financier To Stand Trial

MONTREAL (CP) — John C. Doyle, 44, a wealthy United States financier who arrived here Tuesday night from Nassau in his private four-motored plane, was arrested and charged with theft of $4,800,000 through mining stock transactions.

The charge was laid at the request of James Scotland Benting of Montreal, a shareholder of Canadian Javelin Limited, a mining company of which Mr. Doyle is the president.

In court today, Mr. Doyle, who spent the night in provincial police cells, pleaded not guilty and was ordered to appear for preliminary hearing Jan. 27. He was released on bail of $100,000.

His counsel, Joseph Cohen, described the criminal charges against Mr. Doyle as bizarre. He said the charges are the subject of civil proceedings in the United States and that similar cases ended in out-of-court settlement.

1,350,000 SHARES INVOLVED

The complaint accused Doyle of theft, conspiracy and fraud in connection with 1,350,000 common shares of the company's stock in transactions between May, 1955, and June, 1959. The transactions were said to have occurred in Montreal, other places in Canada and in Geneva.

Rene Gauthier, prosecution counsel, said the complaint specifically deals with the use of company shares as collateral for a $4,800,000 loan obtained from a bank in Switzerland.

The complaint also named Pierre Lehrus of Paris, R. van Hyden of Geneva and Jacques Gagnon, described as a Canadian in charge of the company's executive offices in New York City.

When the question of bail for Mr. Doyle was raised, Donald Danseur, acting with Mr. Gauthier, asked that it be at least $100,000.

Mr. Doyle nonchalantly signed a cheque for the amount. It was cashed at a Montreal bank after a telephone call was made to Nassau where a bank vouches for him.

Algeria Tension Climbs

(Times News Services)

The Continent of Africa, where nationalism and racial strife are on the boil, made news today from scattered points between the Cape of Good Hope and the Mediterranean.

These were the main developments:

ALGIERS — Right-wing extremists today stepped up their campaign to have President de Gaulle adopt a tougher policy with Algerian rebels and abandon his offer of self-determination to the insurgents.

The rising tension in this North African territory was reminiscent of the atmosphere on May 12, 1958, immediately preceding the right-wing revolt which brought de Gaulle back to power.

Newspapers today ignored censorship orders not to refer to a statement by mayors of the Algiers region who threatened to take up arms if necessary to keep Algeria French.

Meanwhile, paratroop Gen. Jacques Massu issued a carefully worded communique today pledging his loyalty to the chief of the French army in Algeria but not directly to President Charles de Gaulle.

An angry de Gaulle abruptly summoned the major-general to Paris Tuesday for a showdown on whether the paratroops hero was plotting an army-backed anti-de Gaulle uprising in Algiers.

It was Massu, the lean and hawk-faced head of army and civilian affairs in Algiers, that led the May 13, 1958, revolt which swept away the Fourth French Republic and brought de Gaulle to power.
